MASTER OF SCIENCE DEGREE in SHIPPING AND SEA TRANSPORTS: ECONOMICS AND POLITICS

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS 2024-2025

THE PROGRAMME EMPLOYS A HYBRID TEACHING SCHEME WHICH ALLOWS FOR ATTENDANCE OF LECTURES BY EITHER PHYSICAL PRESENCE OR FULL ONLINE DISTANCE LEARNING OR BOTH

The Department of International and European Studies and the Department of Economics invite applications for their Postgraduate Programme leading to a Master of Science Degree in Sea Shipping and Sea Transports: Economics and Politics.

The aim of the Programme is to provide a high quality educational opportunity to its students, an opportunity based on exploring breakthrough topics of political and economic nature in the areas of international shipping and sea transport, on gaining in-depth knowledge from practitioners in the field, on developing skills for future internship and career opportunities and on acquiring an excellent intellectual foundation for any career they wish to pursue.

Prospective employers include shipping companies in Greece and abroad, companies involved in maritime business in Greece and abroad, public and private port authorities, public authorities and local government authorities involved in maritime affairs and sea transports. People already employed in these fields may also benefit from attending this Programme in terms of knowledge as well as opportunities for professional advancement. Finally, the Programme will prove indispensable to those contemplating a career change or wish to pursue a PhD in the relevant fields.

The Programme entails two strands, each specialized in one of the two key areas of global maritime trade: a) Shipping and Maritime Transport Economics and b) International Politics of Shipping and Maritime Transport. Therefore the courses of the Programme come from the academic disciplines of Economics of Shipping and Sea Transport, Logistics and International Relations.

The time frame of the Programme consists of three semesters, two of which involve class attendance, while the third one is dedicated to the implementation of the internship and to the writing of a dissertation. The MSc in Sea Shipping and Sea Transports: Economics and Politics is designed to offer a blended learning teaching method that combines the following ways to learn:

- Core, synchronous, weekly sessions. Each of our courses comprises core, weekly, synchronous learning where you join other students and the course tutor in the class.
- For online attendance there is an online Zoom ‘virtual classroom’ that you are able to join from everywhere.

Thus, there is a hybrid teaching scheme which involves in person (physical presence) and online attendance of the lectures for the entire duration of the Programme.

All courses are taught in English.
