

Curriculum Vitae

Athanasios Koulakiotis is Associate Professor in International Financial Relations at the Department of Balkan, Slavic and Oriental Studies at the University of Macedonia. He has taught at more than three institutions at home and abroad, including the University of Wales, the University of the Aegean, the Hellenic Open University, the Open Cyprus University and the International Hellenic University. He has more than 60 publications in international peer-reviewed journals, some of which have been published in the following journals: Finance Research Letters, Economics Letters, Applied Economics Letters, Journal of Multinational Financial Management, International Review of Economics and Finance, Annals of Economics and Finance, Journal of International Financial Markets and Institutions, Research in International Business and Finance, European Journal of Finance.