

Vice Rector

Professor Dimitrios Kyrkilis

Dimitrios Kyrkilis was born in Volos, Greece in 1958. He graduated from the University of Athens, Department of Economics in 1981 and he was awarded a PhD degree from the Victoria University of Manchester, U.K. in 1987. The title of his doctoral dissertation is «Economic Determinants of Foreign Direct Investment in Greek Manufacturing, 1963-1981».

He currently serves as Professor at the Department of Balkan, Slavic and Oriental Studies of the University of Macedonia, Greece while he has served as lecturer at the Department of International and European Economic and Political Studies of the same University, and at the Department of Economics of the University of Crete, Greece. He has also worked as senior economist for the Black Sea Trade and Development Bank, an International Financial Institution headquartered in Thessaloniki, Greece. He was the director of the MA programme in Politics and Economics of Contemporary Eastern and South-eastern Europe, Head of the Department of Balkan Slavic and Oriental Studies, and Dean of the School of Economics and Regional Studies of the University of Macedonia. He was elected in 2018 for a 4 year long term Vice Rector for Academic Affairs, Administrative Affairs, and Personnel of the University of Macedonia. His academic interests are in the fields of International Economics, Foreign Direct Investment in particular, Transition and Development Economics, the analysis of emerging markets in Eastern and SE Europe and their regional integration and collaboration. He has published extensively in international journals, collective volumes, and conference proceedings.